WHITTIER, Calif., November 18, 2006 - Sponsored by Credit Union of Southern California, and generously supported by numerous employees, organizations, and volunteers from community schools and businesses, Southern California's Helping Hands held its Third Annual Food Drive.

Truckloads of food were brought to CU SoCal's Whittier branch, and distributed throughout the day to over 2,700 people -- 611 families in all. For children attending the event, fun activities were also available.

"I can think of nothing more rewarding than giving to others. And, I am filled with pride when I see the number of CU SoCal employees who volunteer their time to participate in meaningful events like our Annual Food Drive," said Dave Gunderson, CU SoCal President/CEO.

About Southern California's Helping Hands (SCHH)

Founded in 1997 by CU SoCal employees, SCHH's vision is to provide aid for the poor and needy in Southern California. The program provides food, clothing and other vital necessities to families in need. For more information, call 714.671.2710.
